

food play

Play with your taste buds as suggested in RamenPlay's name, with the 31 new dishes it is offering on its revamped menu. Savour your gastronomic experience in new ways as you watch the Nabemushi Tofu, a spin-off of the chawanmushi, cook and take shape in front of you after 13 minutes, and smell the fragrance of the Butariki Ishinabe as the rice sizzles in the stone pot. RamenPlay also has a new drinks and desserts menu with 16 sweet treats. The smooth and lightly sweetened Soya Bean Pudding is a favourite with the children. Health-conscious fans will rejoice at the light dishes and reduced portions.

RamenPlay has outlets in 313@ Somerset, Resorts World Sentosa, Junction 8, nex@Serangoon Central, and 112 Katong Mall (opening in November 2011)

family feast

Head down to Jade Garden restaurant at The Chevrons Club with the family for the unique experience of pork-less, lard-less Cantonese cuisine that tastes every bit like the real thing. Tuck into mouthwatering Chinese cuisine.

For a light and tasty dish, try the Fresh Crab Claw with Japanese Somen, while their towering Combination Dessert Platter laden with fruit and shot glasses of sweet desserts is sure to thrill both adults and kids alike.

gastronomic haven

Singapore Restaurant Week is returning for the second time this year from 9 to 16 October, after its resounding success earlier in March which saw over 24,000 bookings. Now with an even bigger selection of 90 participating restaurants, foodies can stuff themselves silly at the irresistible price of $35++ for exclusive three-course dinners and $25++ for three-course lunches at all the restaurants.

All bookings can be made online from 21 September at www.restaurantweek.sg. American Express Cardmembers (excluding DBS and UOB issued American Express Cards) will enjoy exclusive pre-booking privileges from 14 September
